PLANS COMPLETE FOR BIG PARADE

Chief Marshal Robert Reary Announces Line Of March.

ASSOCIATION TO MEET

July 4 is Day For Annual Convention of County Firemen. Plenty of Entertainment and Refreshments.

Plans for the formation of the Annual Adams County Firemen's Association parade at Biglerville on the Fourth of July were announced today by the chief marshal, Robert M. Reary. The parade will form on North Main street, using the school grounds as a place of formation. The column will move south on Main street to Hanover street and thence west to Penn street. Moving over Penn street to West York street, the parade will continue out York street to Fourth street and over Fourth street to Hanover street where it will be dismissed. The place of dismissal is just a half a block from the baseball field and a half a block from the carnival grounds.

Several bands will be in line with the various county companies. The Biglerville band with the Biglerville company and the fire truck will occupy a prominent place in the column. Gettysburg, headed by Chief James B. Aumen and a band, is planning to capture one of the cash prizes. All companies, parading in a body are urged to send notice of such intention to the chief marshal so that a place can be assigned them. Provision will be made for those who are unattached. None of the persons who intend to attend the celebration need go hungry. Several hundred gallons of chicken soup will be made by a group of Biglerville women who are interested in the welfare of the Biglerville fire company. More than one hundred fowls have been contributed. In (Continued on Third Page)

12 BASS IS "BAG LIMIT"

All Under Nine Inches Must Be Returned to Water, Under Law.

While numerous fishermen of Gettysburg inaugurated the opening of the 1923 bass season by leaving town for their favorite fishing grounds, none as yet have been heard from as laying claim to a record for either number or size of fish.

The limit has been set this year at twelve fish a day, and all which measure under nine inches must be returned to the water.

Suggestions from sportsmen who would foster humane methods in handling a fish which is to be returned to the water in order that it may live for some months or years longer are to the effect that if the hands are first wet with water, the protecting covering or slime with which a fish is coated will not be rubbed off.

When this covering is removed by handling with dry fingers, it is asserted, diseases and fungus growths of various kinds find easy access to the skin of the fish under the scales, and the object desired in returning it to its home may be thus defeated.

SEE 6-WEEKS DROUGHT

Dog Days Open Following Dry Weather On Monday.

Countians are anticipating six weeks of drought, dating from Monday, according to followers of legendary lore, for that day marked the anniversary of the departure of the Virgin Mary from Nazareth on a visit over the mountains to her cousin Elizabeth in Jerusalem.

According to the ancient belief, if it fails to rain on that anniversary, dry weather will continue during the period of her visit, but she will return to her home on August 15 wet. This is the first of the dog days.

CHERRIES PLENTIFUL

Sweet and sour cherries again held sway at curb market this morning, with prices firm. Buying was brisk in the opening hour, but dwindled considerably around the end of the second, leaving the many hucksters attending with fruit on their hands. Black raspberries were plentiful, and maintained their former price of 20 cents a box. Red raspberries also were firm at 25 cents a box. Eggs advanced two cents, selling at 25 cents a dozen. One farmer offered late strawberries at 20 cents a box and found ready buyers. Blackberries made their initial appearance, opening at 20 cents a box.

First Celebration of Independence Day Here

Detailed Report of Gathering in Gettysburg on July Fourth, 1801, is Found in the Adams Centinel, Now the Star and Sentinel, of July 8, 1801.

The first celebration of the Fourth of July on record in Adams county is found in the files of the old Adams Centinel, now the Star and Sentinel, property of the Times and News Publishing company, in the issue of July 8, 1801. The celebration was conducted by the Federated Republicans and was held in Gettysburg on July 4, 1801.

The report of the celebration of 122 years ago, as published in the Adams Centinel of that date, follows in full:

Saturday last, being the anniversary of the American Independence, a large and respectable number of ladies and gentlemen of Gettysburg, Millerstown (now Fairfield) and the vicinity of these places met at Gettysburg for the purpose of celebrating the day. The company met on the Square of the Town and marched out to the Federal Grove in the following order:

David McConaughy, Esq., President of the Day. William McClean, Esq., Vice President of the Day.

Capt. Cobean's Volunteer Company of Light Infantry, in uniform, with arms and accoutrement. The Ladies and Citizens.

Capt. Scott's Volunteer Troop of Horse.

An oration was delivered by Mr. James Adair, to the entire approbation of all present.

The company then partook of a cold dinner, prepared by a committee appointed for that purpose; enjoyed the utmost cheerfulness and conviviality and drank the following Toasts, accompanied with the discharges of a field piece and cheers.

Toasts
1. The day we celebrate—courage to maintain inviolate the glorious deed it commemorates. 1 gun, 3 cheers.

2. Columbia's Sons—may they, as they love but one common public interest, never become divided for the sake of a few paltry leaves and fishes. 1 gun, 3 cheers.

3. The Memory of George Washington, the immortal hero of the American Revolution—may fame wait his virtues to the end of time. 3 guns, 3 cheers.

4. Our venerable fellow citizen, John Adams—may he continue to deserve and receive the plaudits of all good men. 2 guns, 2 cheers.

5. The Constitution of the United States. 1 gun.

6. The President of the United States (Thomas Jefferson)—may the ruling motive with him and his counsellors be the public good, and not the aggrandizement of a party. 1 gun.

7. The land we live in—may the fertility of its genius equal that of its soil. 1 gun.

8. The memory of those heroes who fell in defence of our liberties (Continued on Second Page)

The Fourth 100 Years Ago

Gettysburg's celebration of the Fourth of July exactly one hundred years ago Wednesday, as reported in the Adams Centinel of July 9, 1923, follows:

"A large and respectable concourse of ladies and gentlemen of the borough of Gettysburg and its vicinity assembled in the Court House on the 4th inst. to celebrate the anniversary of that glorious day, on which our political connection with Great Britain was dissolved, and which gave America her existence as a free and independent nation. The Declaration of Independence was read by Alexander Russell, Esq., and an appropriate oration delivered by Doctor C. N. Berluechy after which a number of gentlemen retired to the house of Mr. George Hersh, where they partook of an elegant dinner prepared for the occasion."

Alexander Russell, Esq., presided, assisted by Bernhart Gilbert, Esq.

Among the toasts proposed were the following:

By Alexander Russell: "The confederation of the States—Perpetuity and concord. 'United we stand—divided we fall.'"

By William W. McPherson, Esq.: "The memory of General Mercer who fell at the battle of Trenton."

By Thaddeus Stevens, Esq.: "The next President—may he be a free man, who never riveted fetters on a human slave."

"The President of the day (Alex. Russell) a hero of the Revolution. Let his deeds command respect."

By J. B. McPherson: "Those that are struggling for the inestimable privileges of self-government in every clime. Our best wishes attend them."

MERCHANTS ARE AIDING FARMERS

Chambersburg Commerce Secretary Tells Rotarians of Program of Cooperation.

Unselfish cooperation between the merchant and the farmer is necessary to bring town and country into a closer relationship, Carl Hunt, secretary of the Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce, told the Gettysburg Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Hotel Hoffman last evening.

Mr. Hunt explained the program of mutual helpfulness between the business men of Chambersburg and the soil tillers of Franklin county, which is working to the mutual benefit of all concerned. Various meetings, with both educational and social features, have been held on farms in the different communities and farmers for miles around have attended. A committee from the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce recently visited Chambersburg and obtained first hand information of the success of the program there and the meetings with a view to being of some help to the farmers of Adams county in increasing production and marketing of crops.

"Cooperation is a much abused word," Mr. Hunt said. "It is something that must be worked out in both individual life and community life. Business men of the towns and (Continued on Second Page)

Rev. Harry Daniels Delivers Speech On Little Round Top.

Lauding the spirit of the veterans of the North and the South during the Civil War, and urging his hearers to preserve civil liberty for all time, Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist Episcopal Church, speaking from the summit of Little Round Top on Monday afternoon in connection with the events of the Sixtieth anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, told a large audience that the "pendulum of human progress never swings backward."

"When Abraham Lincoln signed the Proclamation of Emancipation," the speaker continued, "he abolished forever the taint of human slavery from the United States. You men who fought at Gettysburg preserved for all time that precious thing we call civil liberty, which means a representative government. There is no such thing as personal liberty, for that is called anarchy."

"It remains the task for us to see that civil liberty is preserved for all time in the United States; that the constitution is upheld and that the people of this nation become congenial in pointing the way to civil (Continued on Second Page)

EXPECT VICTIMS WILL RECOVER

Mrs. Grace Thomas, Near Biglerville, and Daughter Sustained Fractured Skulls.

LEAPED FROM MOVING CAR

Backfire From Engine And Shower of Sparks Raise Alarm of "Fire," and Three Occupants Leap to Road.

Following an X-ray examination late Monday at the Harrisburg Hospital, both Mrs. Grace Thomas, 35, near Biglerville, and her 16-year-old daughter, Marie, who jumped from their automobile Sunday night on the road between Harrisburg and Gettysburg, were found to have sustained fractured skulls, according to word from Mr. Thomas this morning.

While their condition when admitted to the hospital was considered grave, both mother and daughter have remained conscious throughout the time, and their chances of recovery are considered fair.

The accident occurred while the Thomas family, who reside on a farm between Biglerville and Arendtsville, were returning home from a visit to relatives in Harrisburg late Sunday. The husband, C. O. Thomas, was driving the car, and his son, Ernest, 15, was in the front seat with him.

Mrs. Thomas, with her two daughters, occupied the rear seat. Before the car reached York Springs, the engine backfired several times, throwing a shower of sparks from the exhaust pipe. "Fire," was the cry of alarm.

As Mrs. Thomas screamed Mabel leaped from the rear seat. Mr. Thomas applied the brakes hastily, but before he was able to retard the speed of the car to any extent, Mrs. Thomas and the elder daughter, Marie, also jumped, and landed on their heads at the side of the road. Mabel, 12, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Stopping the car within a few feet, Mr. Thomas rushed back to find his wife and daughter, Marie, lying beside the road, stunned by their fall and both bleeding profusely. Passing motorists, returning from Gettysburg, picked up all the members of the family and rushed them to Dillsburg, where Mrs. Thomas and Marie were treated by Dr. W. D. Crawford of that place.

They were then taken to Harrisburg, and were admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital. The automobile was not damaged.

In speaking of the accident today, Mr. Thomas said that he called to his wife when she screamed, "It's all right now, and just wait a minute until I stop. The car is not on fire, and no one is going to get hurt. Don't jump." But she was seriously frightened, said Mr. Thomas, and leaped from the car before he had much more than applied the brakes.

NO OPPOSITION TO GASOLINE TAX

Two Cents Added Onto Selling Price Paid Without a Grumble From Motorists.

The new gasoline tax, which went into effect in this State at noon on Sunday, has raised little opposition from motorists, and the plan seems to be in smooth operation at all filling stations by this time.

Of the two cents which are added to the former selling price of gasoline, one cent is an emergency proposition which goes directly to the State treasury, together with half the former tax, while half a cent remains payable to the counties semi-annually. All sellers at retail must file quarterly reports with the State treasury.

Every dealer in liquid fuels is required to file immediately a certificate of registration with the Auditor General, the act making it unlawful for any one to sell without filing this notice. Over 14,000 persons will have to file the certificates, which have been sent in blank to persons and firms on the Auditor General's list of gasoline taxpayers.

"Beginning July 1, 1923, all dealers selling liquid fuels for the purpose of resale are required to keep records and file them with the Auditor General quarterly. This is a new feature as heretofore only those selling at retail had to file reports."

The reports from retailers have been required monthly. Now they will be quarterly with thirty days in which to pay the tax. Taxes collected during July, August and September will have to be reported and paid before the end of October and subsequent reports made before the last days of January, April, July and October in ensuing years.

The emergency feature of the tax will last two years.

Mr. Lewis, in a statement issued today, said it was proposed to enforce the penalties if the new act was not obeyed.

(By Associated Press)
Harrisburg, July 3.—Gasoline tax collections for June on May sales totaled $353,033 as compared with $210,244 for May, 1922. Philadelphia county led with $73,000. Adams county's collection totaled $1,703 and Franklin $2,385.

Youth Takes $23.50 In Full View Of "Hot Dog" Patrons.

William Radcliff, 17 years old, of Philadelphia, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill this morning on a charge of larceny, preferred by Ernest Krass, proprietor of the "Texas Hot Dog" restaurant, and was recommended to jail in default of $300 bail.

Radcliff, employed as a waiter in the "Texas Hot Dog" establishment since Saturday night, was left in charge of the place about five minutes early Monday evening. During the absence of the proprietor and in full view of several customers, the youth rifled the cash register, taking $23.50 and leaving only a few pennies in the till.

When the proprietor noticed he discovered his loss and notified the police to be on the lookout for the boy.

The youth was apprehended later in the evening by C. B. Mundorff, of McKnightstown, constable of Franklin township, who had been advised to be on the watch for Radcliff. The youth was brought back to the restaurant Monday evening, where he turned over to the proprietor $22.30, saying he did not take any more.

He was then committed to jail for the night.

TO GAMBLE FOR $100,000

Last Installment Due Dempsey On Guarantee is Left in Hands of Fate by Midnight Conference.

(By Associated Press)
Great Falls, Mont., July 3.—The Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, suddenly called off at midnight last night, was put back on its feet again today and will be decided in the big arena at Shelby tomorrow as scheduled.

Jack Kearns, manager of the world heavyweight champion, at conferences which broke up at 2:45 a. m. today, agreed to send Dempsey into the ring against the challenger tomorrow and gamble for the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee. The promoters guaranteed the preliminary expenses of the show which includes the payment of the boxers of the preliminary bouts, $5,000 to the referee and other incidental expenses which probably will amount to $30,000.

The conferences during the night were not always amiable and often through the closed doors of the room cries and angry voices were heard.

Kearns was obstinate up to the last, insisting that he had a perfectly legal contract which called for the payment of $300,000 before Dempsey stepped into the ring. He said that this money had been promised him and that he had been assured day after day that it would be forthcoming before the time limit expired.

First Celebration of Independence Day Here

Detailed Report of Gathering in Gettysburg on July Fourth, 1801, is Found in the Adams Centinel, Now the Star and Sentinel, of July 8, 1801.

The first celebration of the Fourth of July on record in Adams county is found in the files of the old Adams Centinel, now the Star and Sentinel, property of the Times and News Publishing company, in the issue of July 8, 1801. The celebration was conducted by the Federated Republicans and was held in Gettysburg on July 4, 1801.

The report of the celebration of 122 years ago, as published in the Adams Centinel of that date, follows in full:

Saturday last, being the anniversary of the American Independence, a large and respectable number of ladies and gentlemen of Gettysburg, Millerstown (now Fairfield) and the vicinity of these places met at Gettysburg for the purpose of celebrating the day. The company met on the Square of the Town and marched out to the Federal Grove in the following order:

David McConaughy, Esq., President of the Day.
William McLean, Esq., Vice President of the Day.

Capt. Cobean's Volunteer Company of Light Infantry, in uniform, with arms and accoutrement.
The Ladies and Citizens.
Capt. Scott's Volunteer Troop of Horse.

An oration was delivered by Mr. James Adair, to the entire approbation of all present.
The company then partook of a cold dinner, prepared by a committee appointed for that purpose; enjoyed the utmost cheerfulness and conviviality and drank the following Toasts, accompanied with the discharges of a field piece and cheers.

1. The day we celebrate—courage to maintain inviolate the glorious deed it commemorates. 1 gun, 3 cheers.
2. Columbia's Sons—may they, as they love but one common public interest, never become divided for the sake of a few paltry leaves and fishes. 1 gun, 3 cheers.
3. The Memory of George Washington, the immortal hero of the American Revolution—may fame wait his virtues to the end of time. 3 guns, 3 cheers.
4. Our venerable fellow citizen, John Adams—may he continue to deserve and receive the plaudits of all good men. 2 guns, 2 cheers.
5. The Constitution of the United States. 1 gun.
6. The President of the United States (Thomas Jefferson)—may the ruling motive with him and his counsellors be the public good, and not the aggrandizement of a party. 1 gun.
7. The land we live in—may the fertility of its genius equal that of its soil. 1 gun.
8. The memory of those heroes who fell in defence of our liberties. (Continued on Second Page)

The Fourth 100 Years Ago

Gettysburg's celebration of the Fourth of July exactly one hundred years ago Wednesday, as reported in the Adams Centinel of July 9, 1923, follows:

"A large and respectable concourse of ladies and gentlemen of the borough of Gettysburg and its vicinity assembled in the Court House on the 4th inst. to celebrate the anniversary of that glorious day, on which our political connection with Great Britain was dissolved, and which gave America her existence as a free and independent nation. The Declaration of Independence was read by Alexander Russell, Esq., and an appropriate oration delivered by Doctor C. N. Berlucy after which a number of gentlemen retired to the house of Mr. George Hersh, where they partook of an elegant dinner prepared for the occasion.

Alexander Russell, Esq., presided, assisted by Bernhart Gilbert, Esq."

Among the toasts proposed were the following:

By Alexander Russell: "The confederation of the States—Perpetuity and concord. 'United we stand—divided we fall.'"

By William W. McPherson, Esq.: "The memory of General Mercer who fell at the battle of Trenton."

By Thaddeus Stevens, Esq.: "The next President—may he be a freeman, who never riveted fetters on a human slave."

"The President of the day (Alex. Russell) a hero of the Revolution. Let his deeds command respect."

By J. B. McPherson: "Those that are struggling for the inestimable privileges of self-government in every clime. Our best wishes attend them."

MERCHANTS ARE AIDING FARMERS

Chambersburg Commerce Secretary Tells Rotarians of Program of Cooperation.

Unselfish cooperation between the merchant and the farmer is necessary to bring town and country into a closer relationship, Carl Hunt, secretary of the Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce, told the Gettysburg Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon at the Hotel Hoffman last evening.

Mr. Hunt explained the program of mutual helpfulness between the business men of Chambersburg and the soil tillers of Franklin county which is working to the mutual benefit of all concerned. Various meetings, with both educational and social features, have been held on farms in the different communities and farmers for miles around have attended. A committee from the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce recently visited Chambersburg and obtained first hand information of the success of the program there and the meetings with a view to being of some help to the farmers of Adams county in increasing production and marketing of crops.

"Cooperation is a much abused word," Mr. Hunt said. "It is something that must be worked out in both individual life and community life. Business men of the towns and (Continued on Second Page)

EXPECT VICTIMS WILL RECOVER

Mrs. Grace Thomas, Near Biglerville, and Daughter Sustained Fractured Skulls.

LEAPED FROM MOVING CAR

Backfire From Engine And Shower of Sparks Raise Alarm of "Fire," and Three Occupants Leap to Road.

Following an X-ray examination late Monday at the Harrisburg Hospital, both Mrs. Grace Thomas, 35, near Biglerville, and her 16-year-old daughter, Marie, who jumped from their automobile Sunday night on the road between Harrisburg and Gettysburg, were found to have sustained fractured skulls, according to word from Mr. Thomas this morning.

While their condition when admitted to the hospital was considered grave, both mother and daughter have remained conscious throughout the time, and their chances of recovery are considered fair.

The accident occurred while the Thomas family, who reside on a farm between Biglerville and Arendtsville, were returning home from a visit to relatives in Harrisburg late Sunday. The husband, C. O. Thomas, was driving the car, and his son, Ernest, 15, was in the front seat with him.

Mrs. Thomas, with her two daughters, occupied the rear seat. Before the car reached York Springs, the engine backfired several times, throwing a shower of sparks from the exhaust pipe. "Fire," was the cry of alarm.

As Mrs. Thomas screamed Mabel leaped from the rear seat. Mr. Thomas applied the brakes hastily, but before he was able to retard the speed of the car to any extent, Mrs. Thomas and the elder daughter, Marie, also jumped, and landed on their heads at the side of the road. Mabel, 12, escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

Stopping the car within a few feet, Mr. Thomas rushed back to find his wife and daughter, Marie, lying beside the road, stunned by their fall and both bleeding profusely. Passing motorists, returning from Gettysburg, picked up all the members of the family and rushed them to Dillsburg, where Mrs. Thomas and Marie were treated by Dr. W. D. Crawford of that place.

They were then taken to Harrisburg, and were admitted to the Harrisburg Hospital. The automobile was not damaged.

In speaking of the accident today, Mr. Thomas said that he called to his wife when she screamed, "It's all right now, and just wait a minute until I stop. The car is not on fire, and no one is going to get hurt. Don't jump." But she was seriously frightened, said Mr. Thomas, and leaped from the car before he had much more than applied the brakes.

NO OPPOSITION TO GASOLINE TAX

Two Cents Added Onto Selling Price Paid Without a Grumble From Motorists.

The new gasoline tax, which went into effect in this State at noon on Sunday, has raised little opposition from motorists, and the plan seems to be in smooth operation at all filling stations by this time.

Of the two cents which are added to the former selling price of gasoline, one cent is an emergency proposition which goes directly to the State treasury, together with half the former tax, while half a cent remains payable to the counties semi-annually. All sellers at retail must file quarterly reports with the State treasury.

Every dealer in liquid fuels is required to file immediately a certificate of registration with the Auditor General, the act making it unlawful for any one to sell without filing this notice. Over 14,000 persons will have to file the certificates, which have been sent in blank to persons and firms on the Auditor General's list of gasoline taxpayers.

"Beginning July 1, 1923, all dealers selling liquid fuels for the purpose of resale are required to keep records and file them with the Auditor General quarterly. This is a new feature as heretofore only those selling at retail had to file reports."

The reports from retailers have been required monthly. Now they will be quarterly with thirty days in which to pay the tax. Taxes collected during July, August and September will have to be reported and paid before the end of October and subsequent reports made before the last days of January, April, July and October in ensuing years.

The emergency feature of the tax will last two years.

Mr. Lewis, in a statement issued today, said it was proposed to enforce the penalties if the new act was not obeyed.

(By Associated Press)

Harrisburg, July 3.—Gasoline tax collections for June on May sales totaled $353,033 as compared with $210,244 for May, 1922. Philadelphia county led with $73,000. Adams county's collection totaled $1,703 and Franklin $2,385.

RIFLES REGISTER IN EATING PLACE

Youth Takes $23.50 In Full View Of "Hot Dog" Patrons.

William Radcliff, 17 years old, of Philadelphia, was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace J. L. Hill this morning on a charge of larceny, preferred by Ernest Erardias, proprietor of the "Texas Hot Dog" restaurant, and was recommitted to jail in default of $300 bail. Radcliff, employed as a waiter in the "Texas Hot Dog" establishment since Saturday night, was left in charge of the place about five minutes early Monday evening. During the absence of the proprietor and in full view of several customers, the youth rifled the cash register, taking $25.50 and leaving only a few pennies in the till.

When the proprietor returned he discovered his loss and notified the police to be on the lookout for the boy.

The youth was apprehended later in the evening by C. B. Mundorff, of McKnightstown, constable of Franklin township, who had been advised to be on the watch for Radcliff. The youth was brought back to the restaurant Monday evening, where he turned over to the proprietor $22.30, saying he did not take any more. He was then committed to jail for the night.

TO GAMBLE FOR $100,000

Last Installment Due Dempsey On Guarantee is Left in Hands of Fate by Midnight Conference.

(By Associated Press) Great Falls, Mont., July 3.—The Jack Dempsey-Tom Gibbons heavyweight championship fight, suddenly called off at midnight last night, was put back on its feet again today and will be decided in the big arena at Shelby tomorrow as scheduled.

Jack Kearns, manager of the world heavyweight champion, at conferences which broke up at 2:45 a. m. today, agreed to send Dempsey into the ring against the challenger tomorrow and gamble for the final $100,000 installment due Dempsey on his $300,000 guarantee. The promoters guaranteed the preliminary expenses of the show which includes the payment of the boxers of the preliminary bouts, $5,000 to the referee and other incidental expenses which probably will amount to $30,000.

The conferences during the night were not always amiable and often through the closed doors of the room cries and angry voices were heard.

Kearns was obstinate up to the last, insisting that he had a perfectly legal contract which called for the payment of $300,000 before Dempsey stepped into the ring. He said that this money had been promised him and that he had been assured day after day that it would be forthcoming before the time limit expired.

Some of the rails were heavy. Early demands were detected in the rails, steels, oils and motors, gains of a point or more being recorded. The market became irregular later when selling pressure was exerted against Baldwin which dropped a point and New Haven which dropped 2 points to another new low record for the year.

WAR STORIES FALSE

(By Associated Press) New York, July 3.—Announcement today by engineers who made over the Leviathan that wartime stories of Germany's attempts to cripple the liner were false has left the Shipping Board in a quandary as to what to do with $15,000 worth of elaborate souvenir booklets, containing a detailed account of the alleged sabotage, which were to have been distributed tomorrow on the ship's first voyage as an American liner.

NARCOTIC AGENTS RAID OPIUM DEN

Drugs Worth $12,000 Are Seized When Smoking Room Is Found.

Philadelphia, July 3.—Federal narcotic agents Monday raided a house in Race street, near Tenth, uncovered an opium den large enough to take care of a sizeable patronage, and seized gum opium which they estimate had an underworld value of $12,000. In the last several weeks, narcotic agents have been working in Chinatown and acquiring information regarding the extent of opium smoking. A coincidence aided in distracting attention from the agents as they entered the section of Race street between Ninth and Tenth streets, Monday. A multitude of curious Chinese had flocked around the wreckage of a peanut stand which had been overturned when struck by an automobile. However, when it became known that the raid was in progress, cries of "Wonga umpi!" (government detective) brought every Chinese in the vicinity into the street. None wished to be found in the dwellings.

In the place raided, the agents fled through narrow passageways and up winding stairways to an attic at the top of the building. This attic, they had learned previously, could be entered through three sliding doors. The doors were broken down simultaneously, but by this time excitement was high, and shrill cries had warned those inside. When the agents finally forced their way into the room they caught only a glimpse of a pair of pajama-covered limbs disappearing through a skylight to the roof.

Several agents at once started in pursuit of the Chinese on the roofs of adjoining houses. They caught glimpses of several Chinese who escaped into various houses. Several of those who fled across the roofs were women scantily clad, agents say.

One Chinese, escaping, broke the glass covering the top of a dumbwaiter shaft, climbed hand over hand down the dumbwaiter cable and emerged into the third floor of a restaurant, much to the astonishment of several diners.

the farmers must work together collectively for the good of all.

Mail order houses, he said, which are taking a lot of money out of every community, are doing the community no good while the local merchants can be a lot of help to the farmer and in turn the farmer will reciprocate and give the man who helps him his business.

"There is too much competition to scrap among ourselves," he told the Rotarians. "We must proceed unselfishly."

As a result of the Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce program, revenue to business men and members of the organization there was increased $250,000 from the farms alone in the last six months in additional sales.

"The milk market is our big boom in Chambersburg. It has brought in $100,000 additional revenue this year to the business men of town. The Chamber of Commerce helped provide a market for all the milk produced by the farmers in our vicinity at the highest possible price."

The Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce is helping the farmer find a market for all his products and encouraging him to hold his goods and sell at the proper time to get the highest possible cash price, Mr. Hunt said. A close working arrangement with the farmers is more greatly to be desired than new industries, Mr. Hunt contends, stating they can always be depended upon to keep sales normal while industrial workers are more greatly affected by the rise and fall of the general business barometer and are harder hit by business depressions.

Every member of the Chambersburg Rotary Club is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, he stated. The Chamber of Commerce dues are $25 a year there while in Gettysburg they are only $10. Banks and industries and some merchants hold as many as twenty memberships in the organization, he added. He complimented Gettysburg Rotarians on the improvements he noticed to the town since his last visit here several years ago.

Preceding the address of Mr. Hunt, a memorial was read by Secretary Edmund W. Thomas to George Fissel, the club's former secretary, whose death occurred exactly one year ago.

The musical program included several vocal selections by Roy Purviance, an Adams county boy, who is a member of the cast of the "Greenwich Village Follies." A popular Broadway musical comedy hit. He was the guest of W. C. Tyson.

Herbert L. Grimm, of the Gettysburg Times, was introduced as the newest member of the Gettysburg Rotary Club.

Rotarian Tyson, of the attendance committee, reported another one hundred per cent meeting with all present except Professor Walter D. Reynolds, who is at State College and will attend the Rotary Club meeting this week at Lewistown, and M. C. Jones, who will attend in New York state, where he is on a business trip. It was the eleventh successive perfect attendance meeting.

BOMBS FOUND IN TUNNEL

City Officials Will Be Held Responsible For Further Violence, Belgians To Protest Pope's Letter, is Said.

London, July 3.—The big city of Frankfort, on the edge of the Mayence bridgehead, now is surrounded by occupied territory through French military moves, being completely cut off from unoccupied Germany, it is announced in the latest advices.

To the north, in the Ruhr, French infantry and cavalry have occupied Schweinfurt, near Arnberg, on the Ruhr, and other troops are on their way to Hagen, in the same neighborhood.

Two time bombs were found at the entrance of the Mayence tunnel Monday, says a dispatch from Coblenz. One of them exploded with slight damage. The fuse was withdrawn from the other in time by a French artillery officer.

The French authorities have ordered street traffic restrictions and penalties in other forms imposed on Mayence. The city officials will be held responsible for the occurrence.

Belgium Orders Hostages on Trains Brussels, July 3.—The program of penalties to be imposed in the Ruhr "cause of the bombing of the Belgian locomotive near Duisburg, Saturday, in which ten lives were lost and more than two score persons injured, was before the Belgian cabinet for consideration at its meeting Monday afternoon.

Already the government has ordered that prominent German civilians opposed to the occupation be carried as protecting hostages on Belgian trains crossing the Rhine at Duisburg hereafter.

In response to the widespread indignation caused by the outrage, the newspapers suggest stronger measures, several of them urging the adoption of the practice followed by the Germans in Belgium during the war—the shooting of selected notables in reprisal after each act of hostility.

The Belgian government, it is stated in authoritative quarters, intends to protest to the vatican in connection with the recent papal letter bearing on the reparations question and Ruhr occupation. The form of the protest has not been decided on, but probably will be contained in a letter, it is said.

German Traffic Is Cut As Penalty

Essen, July 3.—A sharp curtailment of traffic on the Ruhr and Rhineland interurban tramway lines, over which the Germans have been moving merchandise, mail and some coal since the seizure by the steam railroads, has been ordered by General Degoutte as a penalty for the bomb explosion in Duisburg, last Saturday. The decree calls for the re-establishment of the interurban railway service on a pre-occupation basis, which means that it will be cut in half.

The French announce the arrival in the Ruhr of Karl Radek, official agent of the Russian soviet government. German officials, however, profess to have no knowledge of Radek's presence in occupied territory, pointing out that since the recent Communist disturbances in Gelsenkirch the trains are being watched closely for Russians whose visits are not authorized.

NEW PLANT IS ASSURED

Littlestown Furniture Factory Stock Is All Subscribed.

Efforts on the part of many residents of Littlestown to sell enough stock to assure the establishment of a furniture and cabinet factory at that place have met with entire success, and the Keystone Cabinet Company will take its place as one of the town's industries in the near future, it is stated. The directors are men of Littlestown, and practically all of the $50,000 worth of stock which was put upon the market was sold to persons of the community and vicinity. The corporation will be known as the Keystone company, and efforts will be made to erect the factory and start operations as soon as possible.

Evidences of the success of similar industries in Gettysburg and Hanover are said to have moved the community to have faith in the success of their venture. H. H. Ross, of Gettysburg, will be superintendent of the plant, and has moved to Littlestown to be in touch with affairs.

3,000 IMMIGRANTS ENTER AMERICA

9,000 More Await Tests, And Quotas Rapidly Being Exhausted.

New York, July 3.—The number of immigrants, who have been examined, passed, and allowed to enter the United States since the new alien quota opened Sunday, passed the 3000 mark Monday. These people, many of whom traveled as much as 5000 miles and spent the entire trip worrying about whether they would arrive in time to enter the country, hurried off the small ferry which runs between Ellis island and Manhattan, dividing their attention between the friends who rushed to meet them and the towering buildings of lower Broadway.

Some 9000 others are still being held at the immigration station, or are waiting aboard ships for their examinations. Thousands will be sent back over the long miles without ever setting foot in the United States.

Lines continued to arrive Monday, and were held in the bay by fog, passengers leaning over the rails trying to get a glimpse of the land of promise.

The quotas for Asia and Africa already have been filled, according to Deputy Commissioner Uhl, and many more will be exhausted when the ships now in port have been examined. Among these will be the Greek, the Turkish, probably the Swedish and the Italian, and those of six or eight small European countries.

Aliens are arriving faster than they can be examined, and several ships scheduled to leave deposited their passengers on the piers, where they are guarded by immigration officials. Cots have been provided by the steamship companies, and the big barnlike pier sheds are filled with hundreds of men, women and children, beds, bundles of clothing, trunks, cookstoves and personal belongings of every description.

LAUDS SPIRIT OF BOTH SIDES

liberty for other nations on the earth."

Rev. Mr. Daniels opened his address with a fine tribute to the heroism of the men in Blue and the men in Gray. "The spirit of America," he declared, "refused obedience to tyranny in any form. The mountains around here inspire freedom in thought and action. It was in that spirit that our Revolutionary fathers sent the British Lion back to its lair, battled, defeated and conquered."

"It was this American spirit that inspired not only the North but the South at the time of the Civil War. The South was not a land of cowards, for their daring and heroism during the war are unquestioned. The South was simply misled."

The speaker then told his audience that it was this same American spirit that sent the men in Gray back to their devastated lands and ruined businesses and drove them on to the accomplishment of the things of peace. "When the war was over but a short time," Rev. Mr. Daniels asserted, "money could not be borrowed for less than a 25 per cent interest rate. This rate was reduced to 10, then to 5 and now money can be borrowed in the South for 4 per cent."

He then compared the spirit of the South with that of Germany, the defeated nation in the World War. "Germany refuses to pay its debts, desires the pity of the world, and pleads poverty."

Rev. Mr. Daniels was introduced by Theodore McAllister, East High street, adjutant of the Corporal Skelly G. A. R. post here. Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, offered prayer. Colonel E. B. Cope, of the Gettysburg National Park Commission, also spoke briefly. Clyde L. Bream, Carlisle street, general supervisor of the Sixtieth anniversary, was in charge of the Little Round Top exercises. Music was furnished by the Citizens' Band of Gettysburg.

At the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Daniels' address, Battery B, 16th Field Artillery, which is in Gettysburg, assisting in the celebration of the Sixtieth anniversary, fired a salvo of 21 guns, which concluded the exercises at Little Round Top.

It is estimated that between 2,000 and 3,000 persons heard the address of Rev. Mr. Daniels. The crowd thronged the summit of Little Round Top and overflowed into the ravine below, commonly known as the Valley of Death.

On Monday evening, another large audience heard the concert of the Citizens' Band in Center Square.

Monday Was Pay Day Men and officers of Battery B, 16th Field Artillery, received their monthly pay on Monday, between $3,000 and $4,000 being paid out, it is said.

The maneuver of Battery B, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning on the athletic field at Gettysburg Academy, was postponed late Monday afternoon, until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. This morning the Battery was on the athletic field practicing the stunt which is said by officers of the unit to be one of the most hazardous and spectacular of the army service.

EXPECT KEARNS TO CALL OFF BOUT

Sale Of Tickets For Dempsey-Gibbons Fight Is Stopped.

AWAIT FINAL ANSWER

Crisis Follows Failure to Raise Final $100,000 Guarantee Funds For Shelby by Championship Bout, July 4.

Great Falls, Mont., July 3.—The Dempsey-Gibbons heavyweight championship fight was near collapse Monday when Major J. E. Lane, trustee of the battle, admitted at 2:45 P.M. that the $100,000 due Dempsey Monday night had not been raised and he did not see any prospects of raising it.

The committee which fought to raise $100,000 in $5,000 contributions from twenty business men of the state will continue to function until 12 o'clock Monday night (3 o'clock eastern daylight-saving time), the time limit set by Kearns for Dempsey's money, Major Lane said, but it would have no new proposal to offer to the champion's manager.

Major Lane declined to reveal what amount of the $100,000 had been raised.

Kearns Has Final Say

"This committee has failed in its attempt to raise the money," Major Lane said. "We have no authority to call off the fight. That must come from Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and Loy Molumby, who signed the articles of agreement with Kearns."

It was significant that Molumby declined to remain in the room with Major Lane and his associates when the announcement of the failure was made.

Molumby left the conference room as the newspaper correspondents filed in and could not be prevailed upon to remain.

"I may have my say later," was Molumby's comment before leaving.

When word of the committee's failure was carried to Kearns, he declined to make any statement, saying he would not say a word until midnight Monday night.

It is understood that Kearns has prepared a statement and will issue it, providing he does not receive the $100,000 due Dempsey.

George H. Stanton, the Great Falls banker, said that in so far as he was concerned the fight was off.

Mt. Stanton immediately stopped sale of tickets at the Commercial Club and other agencies.

Kearns declared that he would insist upon the fulfillment of his contract, which provides that Dempsey shall receive $100,000 before midnight Monday.

In the event he fails to receive the money, then it is expected he will declare the fight-off without further parley with the promoters.

Shelby's Mayor Tries to Save Bout

Shelby, Mont., July 3.—Mayor Jim Johnson, treasurer of the Dempsey-Gibbons bout, is on his way to Great Falls by automobile, with at least $25,000 in ticket money, in an attempt to aid in meeting the final payment of Dempsey's guarantee and saving the fight for Shelby, it was reported here late Monday at fight headquarters.

George H. Stanton, Great Falls banker, is said to have summoned Johnson to Great Falls, with what cash was on hand here. Johnson left soon afterward with the money, it was said.

NARCOTIC AGENTS RAID OPIUM DEN

Drugs Worth $12,000 Are Seized When Smoking Room Is Found.

Philadelphia, July 3.—Federal narcotic agents Monday raided a house in Race street, near Tenth, uncovered an opium den large enough to take care of a sizeable patronage, and seized gum opium which they estimate had an underworld value of $12,000.

In the last several weeks, narcotic agents have been working in Chinatown and acquiring information regarding the extent of opium smoking. A coincidence aided in distracting attention from the agents as they entered the section of Race street between Ninth and Tenth streets, Monday. A multitude of curious Chinese had flocked around the wreckage of a peanut stand which had been overturned when struck by an automobile. However, when it became known that the raid was in progress, cries of "Wonga umpi!" (government detective) brought every Chinese in the vicinity into the street. None wished to be found in the dwellings.

In the place raided, the agents fled through narrow passageways and up winding stairways to an attic at the top of the building. This attic, they had learned previously, could be entered through three sliding doors. The doors were broken down simultaneously, but by this time excitement was high, and shriekers had warned those inside. When the agents finally forced their way into the room they caught only a glimpse of a pair of pajama-covered limbs disappearing through a skylight to the roof.

Several agents at once started in pursuit of the Chinese on the roofs of adjoining houses. They caught glimpses of several Chinese who escaped into various houses. Several of those who fled across the roofs were women scantily clad, agents say.

One Chinese, escaping, broke the glass covering the top of a dumbwaiter shaft, climbed hand over hand down the dumbwaiter cable and emerged into the third floor of a restaurant, much to the astonishment of several diners.

the farmers must work together collectively for the good of all."

Mail order houses, he said, which are taking a lot of money out of every community, are doing the community no good while the local merchants can be a lot of help to the farmer and in turn the farmer will reciprocate and give the man who helps him his business.

"There is too much competition to scrap among ourselves," he told the Rotarians. "We must proceed unselfishly."

As a result of the Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce program, revenue to business men and members of the organization there was increased $250,000 from the farms alone in the last six months in additional sales.

"The milk market is our big boon in Chambersburg. It has brought in $100,000 additional revenue this year to the business men of town. The Chamber of Commerce helped provide a market for all the milk produced by the farmers in our vicinity at the highest possible price."

The Chambersburg Chamber of Commerce is helping the farmer find a market for all his products and encouraging him to hold his goods and sell at the proper time to get the highest possible cash price, Mr. Hunt said. A close working arrangement with the farmers is more greatly to be desired than new industries, Mr. Hunt contends, stating they can always be depended upon to keep sales normal while industrial workers are more greatly affected by the rise and fall of the general business barometer and are harder hit by business depressions.

Every member of the Chambersburg Rotary Club is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, he stated. The Chamber of Commerce dues are $25 a year there while in Gettysburg they are only $10. Banks and industries and some merchants hold as many as twenty memberships in the organization, he added. He complimented Gettysburg Rotarians on the improvements he noticed to the town since his last visit here several years ago.

Preceding the address of Mr. Hunt, a memorial was read by Secretary Edmund W. Thomas to George Fissel, the club's former secretary, whose death occurred exactly one year ago.

The musical program included several vocal selections by Roy Purviance, an Adams county boy, who is a member of the cast of the "Greenwich Village Follies." A popular Broadway musical comedy hit. He was the guest of W. C. Tyson.

Herbert L. Grimm, of the Gettysburg Times, was introduced as the newest member of the Gettysburg Rotary Club.

Rotarian Tyson, of the attendance committee, reported another one hundred per cent meeting with all present except Professor Walter D. Reynolds, who is at State College and will attend the Rotary Club meeting this week at Lewistown, and M. C. Jones, who will attend in New York state, where he is on a business trip. It was the eleventh successive perfect attendance meeting.

FRENCH ISOLATE FRANKFORT CITY

Railroad Repair Shops Are Taken, With 3 Ruhr Factories.

BOMBS FOUND IN TUNNEL

City Officials Will Be Held Responsible For Further Violence, Belgians To Protest Pope's Letter, is Said.

London, July 3.—The big city of Frankfort, on the edge of the Mayence bridgehead, now is surrounded by occupied territory through French military moves, being completely cut off from unoccupied Germany, it is announced in the latest advices.

To the north, in the Ruhr, French infantry and cavalry have occupied Schwerte, near Arnsberg, on the Ruhr, and other troops are on their way to Hagen, in the same neighborhood.

Two time bombs were found at the entrance of the Mayence tunnel Monday, says a dispatch from Coblenz. One of them exploded with slight damage. The fuse was withdrawn from the other in time by a French artillery officer.

The French authorities have ordered street traffic restrictions and penalties in other forms imposed on Mayence. The city officials will be held responsible for the occurrence.

Belgium Orders Hostages on Trains
Brussels, July 3.—The program of penalties to be imposed in the Ruhr because of the bombing of the Belgian troop train near Du'sburg, Saturday, in which ten lives were lost and more than two score persons injured, was before the Belgian cabinet for consideration at its meeting Monday afternoon.

Already the government has ordered that prominent German civilians opposed to the occupation be carried as protecting hostages on Belgian trains crossing the Rhine at Duisburg hereafter.

In response to the widespread indignation caused by the outrage, the newspapers suggest stronger measures, several of them urging the adoption of the practice followed by the Germans in Belgium during the war—the shooting of selected notables in reprisal after each act of hostility.

The Belgian government, it is stated in authoritative quarters, intends to protest to the vatican in connection with the recent papal letter bearing on the reparations question and Ruhr occupation. The form of the protest has not been decided on, but probably will be contained in a letter, it is said.

German Traffic Is Cut As Penalty

Essen, July 3.—A sharp curtailment of traffic on the Ruhr and Rhineland interurban tramway lines, over which the Germans have been moving merchandise, mail and some coal since the seizure by the steam railroads, has been ordered by General Degoutte as a penalty for the bomb explosion in Duisburg, last Saturday. The decree calls for the re-establishment of the interurban railway service on a pre-occupation basis, which means that it will be cut in half.

The French announced the arrival in the Ruhr of Karl Radek, official agent of the Russian soviet government. German officials, however, profess to have no knowledge of Radek's presence in occupied territory, pointing out that since the recent Communist disturbances in Gelsenkirch the trains are being watched closely for Russians whose visits are not authorized.

NEW PLANT IS ASSURED

Littlestown Furniture Factory Stock Is All Subscribed.

Efforts on the part of many residents of Littlestown to sell enough stock to assure the establishment of a furniture and cabinet factory at that place have met with entire success, and the Keystone Cabinet Company will take its place as one of the town's industries in the near future, it is stated.

The directors are men of Littlestown, and practically all of the $50,000 worth of stock which was put upon the market was sold to persons of the community and vicinity. The corporation will be known as the Keystone company, and efforts will be made to erect the factory and start operations as soon as possible.

Evidences of the success of similar industries in Gettysburg and Hanover are said to have moved the community to have faith in the success of their venture. H. H. Ross, of Gettysburg, will be superintendent of the plant, and has moved to Littlestown to be in touch with affairs.

3,000 IMMIGRANTS ENTER AMERICA

9,000 More Await Tests, And Quotas Rapidly Being Exhausted.

New York, July 3.—The number of immigrants, who have been examined, passed, and allowed to enter the United States since the new alien quota opened Sunday, passed the 3000 mark Monday. These people, many of whom traveled as much as 5000 miles and spent the entire trip worrying about whether they would arrive in time to enter the country, hurried off the small ferry which runs between Ellis island and Manhattan, dividing their attention between the friends who rushed to meet them and the towerline buildings of lower Broadway.

Some 9000 others are still being held at the immigration station, or are waiting aboard ships for their examinations. Thousands will be sent back over the long miles without ever setting foot in the United States.

Liners continued to arrive Monday, and were held in the bay by fog, passengers leaning over the rails trying to get a glimpse of the land of promise.

The quotas for Asia and Africa already have been filled, according to Deputy Commissioner Uhl, and many more will be exhausted when the ships now in port have been examined. Among these will be the Greek, the Turkish, probably the Swedish and the Italian, and those of six or eight small European countries.

Aliens are arriving faster than they can be examined, and several ships scheduled to leave deposited their passengers on the piers, where they are guarded by immigration officials. Cots have been provided by the steamship companies, and the big barnlike pier sheds are filled with hundreds of men, women and children, beds, bundles of clothing, trunks, cookstoves and personal belongings of every description.

liberty for other nations on the earth."

Rev. Mr. Daniels opened his address with a fine tribute of the heroism of the men in Blue and the men in Gray. "The spirit of America," he declared, "refuses obedience to tyranny in any form. The mountains around here inspire freedom in thought and action. It was in that spirit that our Revolutionary fathers sent the British Lion back to its lair, battled, defeated and conquered."

"It was this American spirit that inspired not only the North but the South at the time of the Civil War. The South was not a land of cowards, for their daring and heroism during the war are unquestioned. The South was simply misled."

The speaker then told his audience that it was this same American spirit that sent the men in Gray back to their devastated lands and ruined businesses and drove them on to the accomplishment of the things of peace. "When the war was over but a short time," Rev. Mr. Daniels asserted, "money could not be borrowed for less than a 25 per cent interest rate. This rate was reduced to 10, then to 6 and now money can be borrowed in the South for 4 per cent."

He then compared the spirit of the South with that of Germany, the defeated nation in the World War. "Germany refuses to pay its debts, desires the pity of the world, and pleads poverty."

Rev. Mr. Daniels was introduced by Theodore McAllister, East High street, adjutant of the Corporal Skelly G. A. R. post here. Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church, offered prayer. Colonel E. B. Cope, of the Gettysburg National Park Commission, also spoke briefly. Clyde L. Bream, Carlisle street, general supervisor of the Sixtieth anniversary, was in charge of the Little Round Top exercises. Music was furnished by the Citizens' Band of Gettysburg.

At the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Daniels' address, Battery B, 16th Field Artillery, which is in Gettysburg, assisting in the celebration of the Sixtieth anniversary, fired a salvo of 21 guns, which concluded the exercises at Little Round Top.

It is estimated that between 2,000 and 3,000 persons heard the address of Rev. Mr. Daniels. The crowd thronged the summit of Little Round Top and overflowed into the ravine below, commonly known as the Valley of Death.

On Monday evening, another large audience heard the concert of the Citizens' Band in Center Square.

Monday Was Pay Day
Men and officers of Battery B, 16th Field Artillery, received their monthly pay on Monday, between $3,000 and $4,000 being paid out, it is said.

The maneuver of Battery B, scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning on the athletic field at Gettysburg Academy, was postponed late Monday afternoon, until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. This morning the Battery was on the athletic field practicing the stunt which is said by officers of the unit to be one of the most hazardous and spectacular of the Army service.

Shanahan comes second; and the Rev. Dr. C. Kock is third.

Father Shanahan's first mission was at Bellefonte, Center county. He served at Middletown, Gettysburg, York, Bonneauville, and other parishes. He came to New Oxford in the fall of 1917, succeeding the Rev. Mark Stock. He has a wide host of friends who will be sorry to learn of his departure from the field of his labors. Edward Shanahan, New Oxford, a student for the priesthood, who will be ordained next June, is a grandnephew of Father Shanahan.

On his return to Ireland, Rev. Shanahan will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Joanna Shanahan, who has been his housekeeper. He has a brother in Ireland. He will leave New Oxford about July 8.

Edward Shanahan, who will be ordained to the priesthood at Latrobe Seminary, next June, has made his home with the rector of the New Oxford church who is his grand uncle.

In addition to this popular festival delicacy, there will be made a thousand or more ham sandwiches. Hundreds of bottles of "pop" of all flavors will quench the thirst of all and seventy-five gallons of ice cream will go far towards satisfying the demand for the frozen sweet. The Bigerville company is planning to entertain a big crowd and want to be sure that a sufficient amount of food is on hand.

Dancing will be one of the chief attractions at the carnival in the evening. A dancing floor measuring thirty by forty feet will be laid and music furnished by an orchestra. The admission will be by the park plan, that is, a charge will be made for every dance for each couple. Under this arrangement, the floor is cleared after every dance. D. A. Washington and Manley Stockton are in charge of this entertainment.

The stands with the kewpie dolls will be on hand as usual. In addition, however, there will be on the stands articles which are useful. In fact, the majority of gifts handed out to the lucky winners will be of the kind that are worth having.

Cakes, candy and soft drink stands will be run by members of the Bigerville company. In addition to the orchestra on the grounds, a concert will be rendered by the Bigerville Liberty Band under the leadership of Professor Jack Adams, of Harrisburg.

Activity of a Dog's Mind

By JUSTIN WENTWORTH

(©, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THAT collie of his that Colonel Morton shot—a fine animal and devoted to him. Won a good many prizes, too, but you see, his mind didn't work just right. After all, a dog's only justification for being kept is his acquiring something of a human mind, or at least the workings of a human mind. Prince didn't manage to justify his existence, that's all.

Yes, they saved the colonel's little girl at the fire, though she was badly burned. The doctor says it won't be noticeable—much, when she grows older. But Prince ought to have . . . well, you see its like this:

Prince was devoted to the mother before, little Agnes arrived on the scene, and when he was first shown the baby his distress was pitiable. Somehow he felt that he was being supplanted. Then after a while he came to cherish his little mistress more than his old one. Wouldn't stir out of the room while she was in the cradle, and when she began to toddle around he accompanied her everywhere.

Then Agnes reached the doll age, and Prince was jealous as sin when he saw her with her rag doll in her arms. Saw another rival in it. He growled whenever little Agnes took it up. Then that bit passed. You see, Prince was learning, and just as he had learned that the baby was a thing to be cherished and guarded, so he began to look on the rag doll as another mistress.

It was, I suppose, a triumph of reason over brute mind, or, putting it another way, a triumph of self-discipline. Prince couldn't really have liked the rag doll, yet there he was, always ready to fetch and carry it. Perhaps there was some dim instinct of religious veneration for it in his canine mind, perhaps it had become a fetish for him.

So far, then, Prince had reacted like a normal dog. We are apt to credit animals with the same powers of introspection that we ourselves possess. But dogs' minds don't work that way. Nobody can say just what Prince did think of the rag doll. No one thought very much about it. Then came the fire.

Defective insulation, probably. The Mortons lived in a large, fine new house on the outskirts of town—the colonel and his lady, Agnes, her colored nurse, and the cook-housemaid. It was about two in the morning when the blaze was discovered. By that time the house was almost all on fire. There were some carbide chemicals in the cellar—something of that sort; and the result was that the whole household was nearly asphyxiated. They were passing into death from sleep without recovering consciousness.

A neighbor who was sitting up late saw the blaze and turned in the alarm. In a few minutes the town fire engine was on the scene. Up go the ladders. Mrs. Norton is carried out first, still alive. Then another fireman gets the colonel. Then the cook-housemaid and the colored woman. Prince? He had been howling outside the house all the time—got shut out at night or something of that sort.

"Well, we've got 'em all out," said Fire Chief Astley.

"Wasn't there a kid?" asked one of the firemen.

"Sure there's a kid—a little girl!" yelled twenty voices.

Little Agnes slept in a small room between her mother's and the nurse's, and in the excitement it had escaped notice.

A pair of firemen went swarming up the ladder. There came a gust of poisonous air from the burning chemicals. One toppled head backward down the ladder and fell into the street, breaking his arm. The other—just clung.

Prince dashed through the dining-room window as the frame caved in. Nobody saw this, but a moment or two later the dog appeared at the window of little Agnes' room, immediately above the half-unconscious Agnes.

No, his mouth was—the little girl?

In the dog doll!

Well, I might as well end here. He had left the child and snatched the rag doll from beside her head upon the pillow. The fireman got the child out all right. But the colonel had Prince shot. I don't know that he was wrong, either. A dog's got to be just right or

An Ancient Oyster.

An oyster eighty years old has been taken from Delaware bay. Scientific investigators agree and assert that the age of an oyster is indicated by the ridges or waterlines on its shell, just as the age of a tree is indicated by the annual rings that form on its trunk.

A ridge appears on an oyster every year, according to these savants, up to the fortieth year. After that the shell takes on one only every ten years. This venerable oyster had 44 ridges; hence it was eighty years old.

MOUNTAIN-CLIMBING IS GREAT SPORT, IF YOU DON'T WEAKEN

John Solomon, Incognito

"Miss Laverne leaves all business to him. With him, the Macarty's have had dealings. Now they are trying to get rid of him at all costs. Felix Macarty is down there now. I expect to hear any day that Philbrick has been poisoned or arrested or in some way got rid of, so that Felix may take over the place of overseer."

Solomon sucked at his pipe, then asked a wheezy question.

"And what's 'e after? Is 'e in love with 'er?"

"Undoubtedly. All men are," replied the Manchou simply. It was a plain statement of fact. "But this is not the ulterior objective. The Macarty's want possession of the whole island, either by marriage or otherwise. Their reason, I do not know. It is a mystery."

Again there ensued a slight silence.

"So she is up 'ere with 'er blessed uncle, is she?" asked Solomon.

"Yes, for a week of the opera, I understand. David Macarty is her great-uncle, I believe; at least, the relationship is not close. It is a great pity that the girl is so dependent on John Philbrick. That man is weak—a weak stick on which to lean. He means well, and he is sincere. However, he is not equal to his task, he is not equal to fighting the Macarty's. They have great influence. I imagine that the girl was brought here for a time so that Felix Macarty, who remained at the island, might remove Philbrick. The old fool is a dreamer, is drunk most of the time, and is terribly afraid of the Macarty's. Yet he fights!"

The expressionless face of Solomon showed a faint trace of a smile.

"Even a Manchou can make mistakes!" he said again. "A dreamer—afraid—and yet 'e fights! That 'ere Philbrick ain't such a bad sort."

Disquiet flitted across the wrinkled features of Ah Lee. This phrase on the lips of Solomon, so obviously a gentle rebuke, seemed to render him uneasy. He leaned back in his chair, brought forth a cigarette case, and lighted a cigarette. His black eyes searched the once more expressionless face of Solomon.

"While I'm a-thinkin' about it, Mr. Ah Lee," and the blue eyes struck up suddenly, "I suppose you ain't been an' found anything o' that 'ere man you've been wantin' to find a mortal long while? That 'ere Cap'n Wrexham?"

Something moved in the face of the Manchou—rather, underneath the face. It was as though the name of Wrexham provoked, deep inside of him, some terrible convulsion.

"Yes," he answered, quietly. "Yes. We shall come together before long. I may wait a long time to pay my debts, but ultimately they are paid." The blue eyes rested reflectively upon that wrinkled, powerful face.

"You 'ave friends all about the world, Mr. Ah Lee?"

"You also have," retorted the Manchou, with a smile. "I have not known you long, yet I have known of you things, that's 'e kin'ly."

The two men left the restaurant and separated.

Solomon, who walked a bit stiffly, made his way back to Canal street and hailed an empty taxicab. He handed the driver a large bill.

"Motor up an' down," he ordered the astonished driver. "Anywheres you like I want to think 'best like 'em'."

Shanahan comes second; and the Rev. Dr. C. Kock is third.

Father Shanahan's first mission was at Bellefonte, Center county. He served at Middletown, Gettysburg, York, Bonneauville, and other parishes. He came to New Oxford in the fall of 1917, succeeding the Rev. Mark Stock. He has a wide host of friends who will be sorry to learn of his departure from the field of his labors. Edward Shanahan, New Oxford, a student for the priesthood, who will be ordained next June, is a grandnephew of Father Shanahan.

On his return to Ireland, Rev. Shanahan will be accompanied by his sister, Miss Joanna Shanahan, who has been his housekeeper. He has a brother in Ireland. He will leave New Oxford about July 8.

Edward Shanahan, who will be ordained to the priesthood at Latrobe Seminary, next June, has made his home with the rector of the New Oxford church who is his grand uncle.

In addition to this popular festival delicacy, there will be made a thousand or more ham sandwiches. Hundreds of bottles of "pop" of all flavors will quench the thirst of all and seventy-five gallons of ice cream will go far towards satisfying the demand for the frozen sweet. The Biglerville company is planning to entertain a big crowd and want to be sure that a sufficient amount of food is on hand.

Dancing will be one of the chief attractions at the carnival in the evening. A dancing floor measuring thirty by forty feet will be laid and music furnished by an orchestra. The admission will be by the park plan, that is, a charge will be made for every dance for each couple. Under this arrangement, the floor is cleared after every dance. D. A. Washington and Manley Stockton are in charge of this entertainment.

The stands with the kewpie dolls will be on hand as usual. In addition, however, there will be on the stands articles which are useful. In fact, the majority of gifts handed out to the lucky winners will be of the kind that are worth having.

Cakes, candy and soft drink stands will be run by members of the Biglerville company. In addition to the orchestra on the grounds, a concert will be rendered by the Biglerville Liberty Band under the leadership of Professor Jack Adams, of Harrisburg.

Something moved in the face of the Manchou—rather, underneath the face. It was as though the name of Wrexham provoked, deep inside of him, some terrible conviction.

"Yes," he answered, quietly. "Yes. We shall come together before long. I may wait a long time to pay my debts, but ultimately they are paid."

"You 'ave friends all about the world, Mr. Ah Lee?"

Solomon chuckled wheezyly. "Well, now, what about this 'ere Dawid Macarty? What's the name of 'is blessed craft?"

"She is called the Watersprite. A small motor cruiser—"

"Does she 'ave a steward?" interjected Solomon.

"Yes."

Again a space of silence. These two singular men regarded each other for a long while. What thoughts were passing behind that wrinkled saffron mask, behind that blank and pudgy countenance, remained a mystery. At length Solomon tapped his pipe empty and broke the silence.

"If so be as I might ask a bit of 'elp from you, sir—"

"My friend," said the Manchou earnestly, "I am at your service, with all that I have! Especially if it is a question of helping Miss Laverne."

"That's it," assented Solomon. "I want this 'ere steward took off Macarty's craft, and I want it done mortal quick. This very day! I want 'im to up an' disappear, just like that. It'll cost some money; 'ere's a thousand dollars—"

The Manchou dignifiedly pushed back the roll of bills which Solomon produced.

"Let no money pass between us. This is a matter of our friendship, and of Miss Laverne. Am I a poor man? Nonsense! Soon I shall be dead, and I wish to see her in safety."

"Werry good," said Solomon placidly. "But if you and me is a-goin' into partnership on this 'ere deal, it's likely to cost you more'n money."

"What do you mean?" The Manchou gave Solomon a quick, sharp glance.

"I don't rightly know," Solomon remained impassive. "But I 'ave a notion that Providence is a-workin' things out, Mr. Ah Lee. Sometimes Providence don't like to see a man payin' of 'is own debts. If so be as you want to draw out—"

"My word is never taken back," said the cold Manchou. "That steward shall vanish today."

"Werry good, sir. Does Macarty or 'is skipper 'ire 'is crew?"

"Macarty is 'is own skipper. It is 'is hobby."

"So much the better. And where's 'e stoppin' at?"

"At the St. Charles, with Miss Laverne. Some engine work is being done on the yacht."

Solomon pushed back his chair, "And 'ow long are you a-goin' to be in town?"

"Only a day or so. I am arranging to market a consignment of arrack. Those two Arabs you sent me are good men; I owe you thanks for them. They know the work. By the way, I think that on this trip Miss Laverne is arranging to mortgage some property of hers in Latouche. Macarty's game may be to force her to marry his son, or to sell him the plantation. I have discovered nothing of it."

Solomon nodded with his complacent air.

"Werry good, I'll 'ave me eye on things, thankin' you kindly."

The two men left the restaurant and separated.

Solomon, who walked a bit stiffly, made his way back to Canal street and hailed an empty taxicab. He handed the driver a large bill.

Weikert intends to enforce the parking rules for automobiles and teams.The ever increasing number of automobiles being sold in this community argues convincingly in favor of a revision of the parking regulations to meet the congested situation, particularly in the center part of town and the four main blocks leading into the square.Permanent changes should be made only after those empowered with the authority have made a careful study of conditions and evolved the best possible plan to bring about the desired permanent relief to both vehicle and pedestrian traffic. In the meantime, it is to be hoped that some relief will come from the determination to enforce the present regulations, insofar as it is possible for a one-man police force to get results.DELAYING FUNERALSSpeaking of automobiles, the apparent carelessness or thoughtless-ness, as the case may be, with which some motorists drive through the line of a funeral procession is quite noticeable.True, it is often difficult for the average motorist to tell the difference between a funeral cortege and an ordinary procession of autos when the streets are crowded, if one does not see the hearse, yet it has been obvious in several instances recently that the practice of driving with a car through the line of mourners in automobiles has been intentional.No matter how big a hurry you are in, the decent thing to do is to stop and wait for a funeral procession to pass. Thoughtfulness and courtesy in cases of this sort pay best in the long run.These are the days you miss a man the old graveyard on what is known as the Becker farm, which is at present owned by William S. Becker and occupied by John Luckenbaugh, along the Jefferson road, about a mile and a half southwest of Spring Grove, in North Codorus township. The Rev.

Jacob Lischy died during the year of 1781, and his first wife, Mary Anna Pennetz Lischy, died during the year of 1784. His second wife, Ann Mary Lischy, died the year 1812. The markers on the grave are in excellent condition, and the wording on them can be read. There remain at least 15 markers in the old graveyard, of which only two remain standing. The rest of them have fallen over the graves. The Rev. Jacob Lischy founded St. Peter's church, during the year 1765.Tourists ReturnMr. and Mrs. A. R. Brodbeck and daughter, Miss Viola Brodbeck, Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Sterner and son, Lewis, have returned to Hanover from a six days' trip through New York state to Niagara Falls, and a short distance into Canada. Among other points they visited Watkins Glen and Geneva on Lake Seneca, Rochester, and on the return trip, Erie, Pittsburgh and But-

and other cities to "No Man's Land," the Rev. Ray Petty, pastor of the Judson Memorial Church and Community Center, told of his experience as a social worker among the foreign elements in that city at the meeting of the Wilson College School of Missions in Chambersburg. Dr.
Petty is a rapid fire speaker and has a keen sense of humor. Ever since our country was founded we have kept our doors open for all who wished to enter, he said. We were ever ready to offer our country as an asylum for the oppressed of other countries, where they could work out their salvation. The idea was the biggest thing America ever conceived but the foreigners have become a serious problem. Before the World War we had our Little Italy, Little Bohemia and little other countries and we found them very interesting.
Someone said this would become a menace but we only laughed at the predictions. Then the war came and this interesting thing was shot through with danger. Dr. Petty then told of the large number of men from the New York foreign districts, who were drafted into the service and taken to military camps, where they had to be taught history and what the United States flag stands for.Fire Hits Store AgainFire with its destructive consequences seems to have selected the Beck & Benedict Hardware company's store in Waynesboro for its mysterious outbreaks, for again a sheet of fire shot through the rear portion of the store from an origin not determined, although it is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in electrical wires under the surface of the store ceiling. The blaze occurred shortly after the noon hour as J. E. Beck of the firm of Beck & Benedict and his son, Lester Beck, were standing in the office room at the rear of the first section of the long store. The office has been rebuilt entirely on a different plan but, fortunately, desks and papers have not been placed in the section of the office where the blaze reached.Get In His BloodJohn Grove, who was injured two weeks ago in a motorcycle hill climb at Stroudsburg, has returned to his improved although his muscles are a little sore from the accident. He York, to participate in the national this being the biggest event of the

of a motorcycle driven by a Mr.
Mills, of Pecktonville. Mills was going west and attempted to pass a machine going in the same direction.
His motorcycle skidded and threw Reed beneath the wheels of an automobile approaching from an opposite direction. Reed was taken to the office of Dr. F. W. Rich, Clear-spring, and later to the office of Dr.
J. Johnson, Hagerstown. He suffered a scalp wound and bruises on the chest. Mills escaped with minor injuries.Police Probe AttackPolice of Hagerstown are investigating an alleged attack on a woman early Sunday morning. Shortly after midnight Lieutenant Williams received a telephone message from her house asking that police be sent at once. He dispatched a squad of police to the scene. On arriving at the house the officers found a woman lying on the floor with her legs bound with a heavy rope and a wet towel hanging about her neck. They released her and asked an explanation of the trouble. The woman refused to answer any of their questions and neighbors were unable to throw any light on the affair. After making sure that there was no one else in the house the police returned to headquarters.Seek Relatives of ManAn unknown man, apparently demented, was arrested Saturday night by Deputy Kaylor and is being held in Hagerstown jail while an effort is being made to locate his relatives.
The man, who is very aged and scarcely able to walk, was found seated on the tracks on the Williamsport pike by the crew of a street car. He refused to move from the tracks and was placed aboard the car and taken to Hagerstown where Kaylor arrested him. In a rambling way the man told how he went to Hagerstown some time ago from New York and had since been working on a railroad. He did not know the name of the road and in-

HOME RUN DRIVE DEFEATS FIRST

Gilbert's Clout in First Frame
Was All Scoring Done by Both Sides.

One terrific drive by Gilbert, Second Ward's leadoff man, in the first inning, spelled disaster for First Ward's aggregation on the First ground diamond, Monday evening. Gilbert drove the sphere over L. Oylor's head into deep right field, and the ball was not captured until it had almost touched the outer edge of the swimming pool. It was labelled a home run clout and the batter easily made the circuit. The score was 1 to 0.

After that knockout punch, the game settled down to one of the finest exhibitions of a pitcher's duel staged on the Playground this season. Neither Cromer, the Second Ward's moundsman, nor B. Armor, who did the heavy work for First Ward, yielded a walk throughout the entire five innings, although Cromer hit Weiser in the fifth session.

Cromer, the winning pitcher, allowed but three hits, being scattered in as many innings. Not a single First Warder got further than second base during the fracas, which was played off in record time, less than one hour being consumed to play the full five inning contest.

Armor pulled himself together immediately after Gilbert smacked out his home run, and he held the Second Ward from further scoring. His teammates gave him excellent support, while he proceeded to strike out six batters. However, First Ward lacked the stuff to hit safely off of Cromer and in four of the five innings only three men faced him. Armor pulled himself out of a deep hole in the fourth inning, after Bream hit a single and Heiges advanced him to third on a double. The pitcher tightened, striking out Hunter, of Third Ward, who was substituting, and McDonnell. The third out came with Weiser's catch of Cromer's foul.

There will be no Ward League game on Wednesday evening, July 4. The next game is scheduled for Friday night, between Second and Third Wards.

Frederick

Surveyed County Wheat

F. W. Oldenberg, of the University of Maryland Extension Service, and County Agent John McGill, Jr., spent several days last week in making a survey of wheat conditions in different portions of Frederick county. They made special investigations of the present condition of the Mammoth Red wheat, a new variety which has been planted on five farms this year as an experiment. This Mammoth Red wheat has been grown with unusual success on the experimental plots at University, but this year is the first time it has been tried under actual farm conditions. At the University the yield has been high and the quality good. It is hoped that the wheat will grow equally as well in the counties. It has been found in other instances that products grown successfully at the University do not thrive under real farm conditions and much interest is attached to the experiments in the Mammoth Red wheat to see if such will be its fate.

Bathing Ends Marriage

A bathing beach party, held only a few days after their marriage, was the beginning of the end of the married life of James S. Perry and Ellen Devalt Perry, of Winchester, Virginia. Perry was granted an absolute divorce Friday in corporation court at Winchester on statutory grounds. The couple were married in Frederick, June 14, 1921. Perry said in his testimony that a few days after their marriage he had occasion to object to his wife going on a swimming party, and that in consequence thereof she left him. A co-respondent was named in the divorce action. Neither party may remarry for six months under terms of the decree.

Gilbert's Clout in First Frame
Was All Scoring Done by Both Sides.

One terrific drive by Gilbert, Second Ward's leadoff man, in the first inning, spelled disaster for First Ward's aggregation on the Playground diamond, Monday evening. Gilbert drove the sphere over L. Oyler's head into deep right field, and the ball was not captured until it had almost touched the outer edge of the swimming pool. It was labelled a home run clout and the batter easily made the circuit. The score was 1 to 0.

After that knockout punch, the game settled down to one of the finest exhibitions of a pitcher' duel staged on the Playground this season. Neither Cromer, the Second Ward's moundsman, nor B. Armor, who did the heavy work for First Ward, yielded a walk throughout the entire five innings, although Cromer hit Weiser in the fifth session.

Cromer, the winning pitcher, allowed but three hits, being scattered in as many innings. Not a single First Warder got further than second base during the fracas, which was played off in record time, less than one hour being consumed to play the full five inning contest.

Armor pulled himself together immediately after Gilbert smacked out his home run, and he held the Second Ward from further scoring. His teammates gave him excellent support, while he proceeded to strike out six batters. However, First Ward lacked the stuff to hit safely off of Cromer and in four of the five innings only three men faced him. Armor pulled himself out of a deep hole in the fourth inning, after Bream hit a single and Heiges advanced him to third on a double. The pitcher tightened, striking out Hunter, of Third Ward, who was substituting, and McDonnell. The third out came with Weiser's catch of Cromer's foul.

There will be no Ward League game on Wednesday evening, July 4. The next game is scheduled for Friday night, between Second and Third Wards.
